Adapting Rondo (20 mins)

Rondo (GK Version)

Rondo - 4v2 or 4v1

Area - Rectangle shape

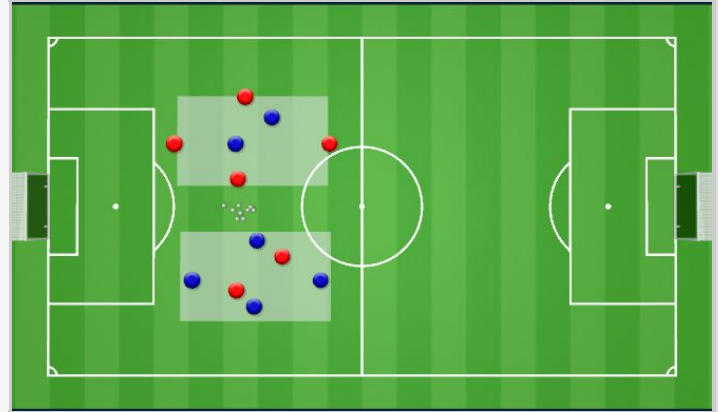

Time - 3 x 4 minutes with 2 x 30-Dual Force

Action - Adapting

Behaviour - Adjusting to change

Rules: Normal Club Rules but

- Round 1: 30 passes and catch to keep defenders in. First pass split when new defender comes in is worth 29. Any other split pass is worth 10. IF less than 12 players, play 8v4 rondo (20x20m square)
- Round 2: 2 teams, each team send 3 defenders to invade the other rondo. 6 passes for a point for the attackers. Win the ball and either get 2 passes or dribble out for a point.
- Round 3: 3 teams. 1 team defend, 2 attacking team occupy a rondo each. 10 passes and catch, dribble out for the defender for points. Defenders can place any number of defenders in the square at each time and can change square at any time. 3x90 sec games, immediately start next game by swapping defending team.

Dual Force - First Round

- In pairs, one ball between them, one player holds the ball against their chest, and the other player tries to pull it off them, not turning away when holding the ball, players reverse roles when they take the ball (30 seconds)
- In pairs, one ball between them, one player lies flat on their back holding the ball on their chest, and the other player tries to pull it off them, players reverse roles when they take the ball (30 seconds)

Dual Force - Second Round

- In pairs, one ball between them, one player goes on their knees and covers the ball between them and the ground, and the other player tries to take it from them, players reverse roles when they get the ball (30 seconds).
- In pairs, one ball between them, players can choose to play any of the three previous dual force games (30 seconds)

Coaching:

- Question the players on the actions they might change based on the different rules of the game.
- In the rondo, players need to adjust their angles, distance, timing, and lines to the situation

Positional Play (25 mins)

Positioning Games (2v2+2)

Area - as diagram (30x20m)

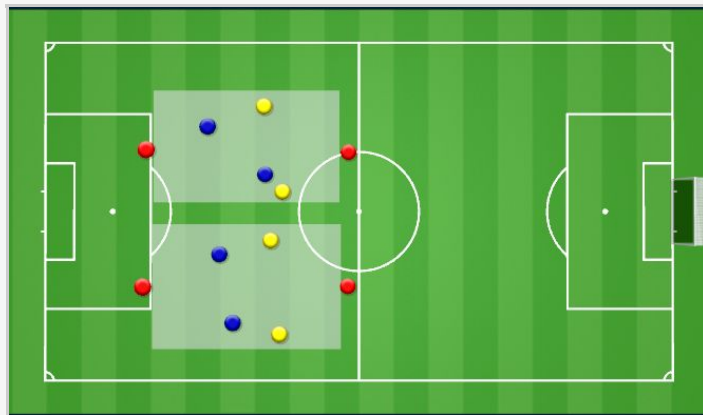

Time - 6 x 3-minute sets with 1min rest in between

Action - Adapting

Behaviour - Adjusting to change

Rules:

- Two areas, 3 teams of 2 in each square (2v2 + 2 neutral plays).
- Play from one neutral to another for a point
- Neutrals can be tackled and instant change of possession.
- Change neutral team after each game.
- Rotate so teams play at least 3/4 different opponents.

Progressions:

- Attacking team plays back to the same Neutral twice in a row is worth 1 point for attacking team.
- Endzone game - Neutrals can come inside the field and score by driving across endzone (teams only attack 1 way)
- Add mini goals

Coaching:

- Ask questions about strategies that teams can earn more points based on our playing principles.
- Ensure that the players in possession adjust to the changing players (processing)
- Maintain the chaos of this exercise and the quality

Game (30 mins)

Game 6v6 (adjust for numbers)

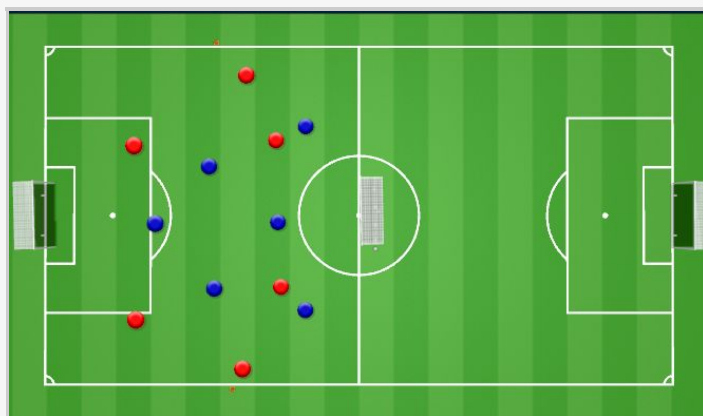

Area - as diagram

Time - 4 x 5 min sets with two minute rest in between

Focus - Adapting

Rules:

- Normal game rules, but the coach creates match situations that both teams need to adjust to.
- Last man back GKs unless there is designated keeper
- Set 1, it is ten minutes to go, and your team are ahead in the match, coach the defensive team
- Set 2, it is ten minutes to go, and your team need to score two goals to win, coach the attacking team
- Set 3, it is nil all, will your team decide to defend or attack to win, coach both teams as the situation changes during this set
- Set 4 is a normal game

Coaching: Ask questions, see how players adapt to each game and the principles they've learnt.

- Previous delivery of game model principles needed (actions, behaviours, and moments)
- Set 1, defensive principles, recover, compact defensive shape, patience, steal the ball and counter-attack (defend your lead)
- Set 2, attacking principles, be direct, be creative to score, get in behind, and box occupation (win the game)
- Set 3, reinforce the defensive and attacking principles to suit the match situation for that team
- Call out the time every three minutes, then the last minute
- Intervention of 10 seconds maximum

The coach's knowledge of (in) our game model attacking and defensive principles will be challenged
